In light of the Federal Reserve recently issuing proposed guidelines for banking organizations governing executive compensation and risk management processes, bank executives need to know how the guidelines will impact their institutions as well as what incentive compensation strategies they should have in place.

This webinar, part of a series created by RSM McGladrey, Barack Ferrazzano and Howe Barnes Hoefler & Arnett to help banks survive in this difficult environment, will include such topics as:

- Recent regulatory requirements
- Changing roles of the compensation committee
- Risk-based compensation programs

Presenters
